

ONE

Teachers agree that that two-way communication is crucial to family engagement.

Family engagement refers to regular, two-way, meaningful communication between school and home.

Two-way communication with families leads to better student outcomes.

TWO

Without the right tools, teachers can't communicate effectively with their students' families.

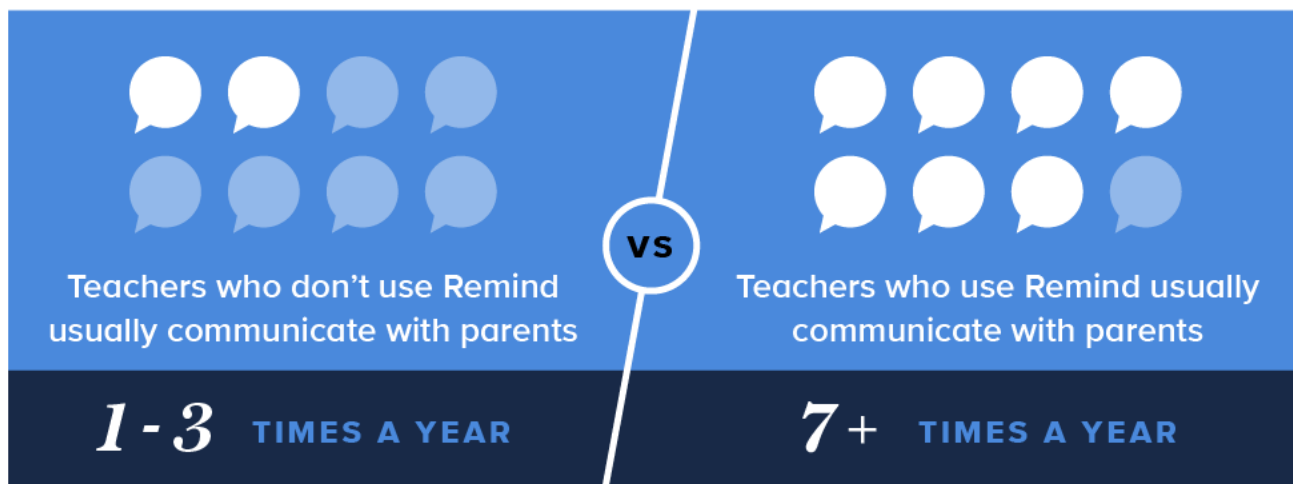

Teachers who don't use Remind rely on upwards of 7 different communication channels.

Most Remind teachers only use 1-3 tools for family engagement.

THREE

Remind helps improve the volume—and type—of communication between teachers and parents.

Teachers who don't use Remind are 2X more likely to characterize their communication with families as negative.